A few words about writing an essay in English

Writing an essay is a prerequisite for admission to a foreign university, passing an international exam or taking a job. To enter the IBA programs at prestigious foreign business schools, you need to provide not only a letter of recommendation in English, but also an essay in which you present yourself as the best candidate for studying under this program. The quality of the essay will depend not only on your level of English, but, first of all, on the level of development of the skill writing. How to improve the skill of written English in three steps, we have already told.

In addition, a quality essay involves not only emotionality, interesting content, details that will attract attention, but also the correct design. Well, if you write an essay at home, in a relaxed atmosphere and not limited in time. For example, you have one or two days to write and edit. But what if the essay is part of the exam? Then you are limited in time, and the emotional mood is not the same: you need to write quickly and competently. In this case, you will be helped by introductory phrases that you can use when writing your work. Such phrases will help not only to structure the entire text, but also to make it coherent, coherent, reasoned.
